

EMPIRE WAR WORKERS IN BRITAIN

FOR VICTORY

A VOLUNTEER FROM BRITISH GUIANA

Many girls from the West Indies have volunteered for service with the Auxiliary Territorial Service. Some, who were going for service abroad, have come to Britain; most are on their way. Every girl in the A.T.S. has an equal chance of promotion or of taking a commission. Above is Private Diana Williams, a recent West Indian Cadet. Part of Diana's work consists of helping with the maintenance of army vehicles. Here she is seen beginning on the job of retreading a tyre in the corner of a repair depot in the Midlands.